GARNER CONDEMNNS "ONE BUCK" LAW

Rhineland Physician Finds Three Doe Carcasses in Woods Sunday

Dr. H. L. Garner of this city does not hesitate to severely denounce the "one buck" law, declaring it to be one of the greatest farces ever placed upon the statutes of Wisconsin. The doctor's sentiment is the result of personal observation, most of which was made Sunday while on a hunting trip in company with J. R. Bentley in the northern part of Oneida county.

Dr. Garner states that while he and Mr. Bentley were scouring the woods, in the anticipation of killing a buck deer, they came across the carcasses of no less than three does that had been slaughtered by undiscerning hunters and left in the woods. From one of these carcasses the saddle had been removed, but the other two were untouched. A camp of hunters was visited by the doctor and Mr. Bentley and one of the party remarked that he and his companions had so far killed no bucks but had shot several does. In most instances the animals had been left where they fell. This hunter said that the whole party intended to remain in the woods until each member was able to take home a buck.

It is Dr. Garner's opinion that over one half the deer shot during hunting season are does. Many hunters when they sight a deer in the distance are unable to ascertain its sex and shoot in the hope that the animal is a buck. When they find that they have killed a doe they leave the carcass in the woods, fearing contact with the wardens. There are other hunters who knowingly kill does just for the sport it affords them. They also rarely make use of the meat. Then there are hunters who hunt for the sole object of getting venison and would as readily kill does as bucks, taking chances on getting their game home undetected.

"The one buck law is a huge joke," declares Dr. Garner, "and I sincerely hope to see it repealed at the next session of the legislature. I have seen enough of the manner in which the law is being disregarded to know that it can never be anything more than a farce. Most of the people who say that the law is a good one speak without personal knowledge or for various reasons care not to express their true opinion."

PRICE OF TURKEY EXTREMELY HIGH

Rhineland Dealers Say Birds Will Retail at 40 Cents Per Pound

Owing to the extremely high price it is a safe wager that the number of Rhineland citizens who will eat turkey on Thanksgiving day will be very few. A New North representative made the rounds of the Rhineland meat markets Tuesday and learned that turkey will retail at from 35 to 40 cents per pound. The price last year was 25 to 28 cents per pound. Turkeys are reported scarce and the number offered for sale in this city will be limited. The majority of dealers will receive only enough of the birds to fill advance orders.

Chickens, ducks and geese will be plentiful, dealers say, and the prices will be reasonable. For once King Turk will lose his popularity as the piece de resistance of the Thanksgiving feast. Fowls of more lowly degree will take his place of honor at the family board.

Beef jumped another $1 a hundred pounds within the last two weeks and lamb is about $1.50 higher than two weeks ago. These increases are quoted through the Chicago and Milwaukee markets. Prices here have not been affected. In fact the local retail prices of meats show a downward tendency over recent figures.

Attend the Charity Ball at the Armory, Friday evening, December 29.

LAMBERT BUYS BRENNAN'S STORE

Frank Lambert is now proprietor of the ice cream parlor and confectionery store at 26 S. Brown street known as Riley's and for the last nine months conducted by M. J. Brennan & Company. The deal was closed Saturday.

It is understood that after the first of the coming year at least two thousand dollars will be expended in improvements at this store. These will include a new front, a beautiful new soda fountain and cozy booths.

Mr. Lambert is one of Rhineland's popular young men and it is predicted that he will make a big success of his new business. For the last two years he has been in the pop corn line here and owns one of the most elaborate pop corn vending wagons in this state. It will be his aim to keep the best in stock at all times, guaranteeing good quality and service.

Mr. Brennan, the retiring proprietor, will return to his former home in Beloit and probably reengage in the barber business. The Brennan family have made many friends during their short residence here and their departure will be regretted.

CORPSE NOT THAT OF LOST HUSBAND

On October 23, an unknown man was killed by a Soo line train near Prentice, a junction point west of Rhineland. The remains were buried at the expense of the county. Thinking that the dead man might be her husband who has been missing since October 14, Mrs. Bernard Mau of Junction City, Wis., came to Prentice last week to investigate the case.

After questioning several men who were members of the coroner's jury at that time, also others who had examined and then buried the body, Mrs. Mau was still undecided though the ones to whom she talked and to whom she showed pictures of her husband felt convinced that he was not the person killed there. When legal advice was sought Attorney Haggerty of Park Falls told her that in order to exhum the body application would have to be made to the local health officer, and that expenses of such proceedings must be borne by the party desiring it.

Mrs. Mau left Prentice but still undecided. Later she returned. She secured the services of the local sexton, went to the cemetery where they uncovered and opened the casket. It was not the body of Bernard Mau which lay within, and the woman, having satisfied herself that her husband did not occupy a nameless grave at Prentice, left for her home again. And mystery still hangs as deeply as ever round the Soo line tragedy of a month ago.

MRS. F. JURY DEAD; ILL TWO YEARS

After a long illness Mrs. Ferdinand Jury passed from this life at 11:45 o'clock Wednesday night, November 15, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. McNabb, in Malvern. Two years ago she suffered a paralytic stroke and since then had been an invalid.

Carrie A. Philipps was born in Bear Creek, Wis., 53 years ago last August. She spent her early womanhood there and 23 years ago became the wife of Ferdinand Jury. To them nine children were born, eight of whom, with their father, survive. They are Mrs. P. Meister, Harry, John, Lewis and Martin Jury of Appleton; Mrs. A. Popp of Neenah; Mrs. M. McNabb of Malvern and Rueben Jury of Antigo.

In 1902 Mr. and Mrs. Jury came to Oneida county, locating in Malvern, and with the exception of four years spent in Appleton, have since resided in that village.

The funeral was held from the McNabb home in Malvern Saturday afternoon. Rev. W. Wilson was the officiating clergyman. Interment in Forest Home cemetery, this city.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to kindly thank the many good friends who assisted during the long illness and at the death of our beloved wife and mother.
F. JURY and FAMILY.

President's Proclamation

"It long has been the custom of our people to turn, in the fruitful autumn of the year, in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for his many blessings and mercies to us and the nation."

"The year that has elapsed since we last observed our day of thanksgiving, has been rich in blessings to us as a people, but the whole face of the world has been darkened by war."

"In the midst of our peace and happiness, our thoughts dwell with painful disquiet upon the struggles and sufferings of the nations at war and of the peoples upon whom war has brought disaster without choice or possibility of escape on their part. We cannot think of our own happiness without thinking of their pitiful distress."

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday, the thirtieth of November, as a day of national thanksgiving and urge and advise the people to resort to their several places of worship on that day to render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of peace and unbroken prosperity which he has bestowed upon our beloved country in such unstinted measure."

"And I also urge and suggest our duty, in this, our day of peace and abundance, to think in deep sympathy of the stricken peoples of the world upon whom the curse and terror of war has fallen so pitilessly and to contribute out of our abundant means to the relief of their sufferings."

"Our people could in no better way show their real attitude towards the present struggle of the nations than by contributing out of their abundance to the relief of the suffering which war has brought."

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed."

"Done at the city of Washington, this seventeenth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and sixteen, and of the Independence of the United States, the one hundred forty-first.—Woodrow Wilson."

ONEIDA POTATOES SCORE FIRST AT STATE SHOW

Oneida county potatoes were awarded first prize at the Wisconsin state potato show in Eau Claire today. Oneida county scored 92 2-3 points. The following telegram was received this afternoon from W. J. Juday, Oneida County Agricultural Representative, who is in supervision of Oneida county's exhibit:

Eau Claire, Wis., Nov. 22.
New North, Rhineland, Wis.

County awards at state potato show just made. Oneida county 92 2-3, Barron 90 1/2, Rusk 87 2-3, Lincoln 84 2-3, Price 84 1-6, Langlade 84. Awards on best decorated booths and individual exhibits not yet made. Oneida stands well in these.

W. D. JUDAY.
Later advices from Eau Claire are that Oneida county also won first for the most attractive booth.

CHARITY BALL HERE DEC. 29

The Charity ball, the season's greatest social affair, will be held this year on Friday evening, December 29, in the Armory.

The various committees in charge of the ball will spare no effort to make it a big success. Everybody is urged to lend their support to this good cause. Tickets sell at $2.00 and can be purchased at any time.

WILL COMPANY I RETURN HERE SOON

Predictions Made That Second Regiment Will Be Next to Leave Border

Now that the Third Wisconsin infantry regiment has been ordered home from further service on the border the prediction is made that the Second regiment, of which Company I of this city is a member, will be the next to be discharged. Just when the order will come few venture to prophesy, but it would be no surprise to see Company I, back in Rhineland before New Year's day.

A few small bets have already been posted in this city that the company will not be on the border another month.

The Third regiment was scheduled to leave San Antonio today and will reach Fort Sheridan, Ill., some time Saturday afternoon. The regiment will be mustered out at this place. It will require several days for the troops to be mustered out and it is believed that none of the companies will reach the home barracks in time for Thanksgiving.

Big home-coming celebrations have been planned in all the cities which have companies in the Third regiment. Housing receptions will also be accorded the regiment at many cities along the route from San Antonio to Fort Sheridan.

The Third Wisconsin has companies from Neillsville, Mauston, Portage, Wausau, Hudson, Eau Claire, Menominee, Superior, La Crosse, Tomah, Sparta. The headquarters of the regiment is at Eau Claire. The Machine Gun Company is from Rice Lake and the supply company is from Superior.

STRONG RIVALRY AT POTATO SHOW

Awarding Of Prizes At Eau Claire Not An Easy Task For Judges

(By W. D. Juday)
Eau Claire, Wis., Nov. 21.

All exhibits are placed at the state show at Eau Claire and judging will begin in the morning. Prize winners will not be announced until Thursday night. Oneida county again looks good. We are in the running and will land either at the top or near it. Competition is strong this year and the placing is going to be close. We easily have the best decorated booth, Charles Friedman's tasteful work putting Oneida county in a class all by itself. The artistic effect of the booth is the talk of the show.

There are not as many potatoes on exhibit as there were last year but the quality is much better. Jewell's Green Mountains, Kuney's Rurals and Campbell's Cobblers and Triumphs have good chances of winning good places in their respective classes.

The convention hall in which the show is being held is fittingly decorated for the occasion and makes a grand place to hold such a show. People from several outside states are here in attendance. Men of national potato reputation are on the program and all sessions promise to be more than interesting. The only regret is that more Oneida county potato growers can not be in attendance. The show closes Friday P. M.

HOLIDAY SHOPPERS SHOULD GET BUSY

Christmas Less Than Five Weeks Away—Buy While Stocks Are Complete

The early Christmas shopping campaign is being pushed with vigor by many newspapers throughout the country. And with Christmas now less than six weeks ahead, it is high time for this annual reminder, for of course, it is plain it soon will be too late to do early shopping. With some there is a tendency to wait until after Thanksgiving before attending to this matter. And as Thanksgiving comes about one week later than usual this year, it probably will mean a big rush of holiday trading immediately after. There is, therefore, additional reasons for urging shoppers to get busy without delay.

It is the general anticipation that holiday shopping will be of unprecedented proportions this year. Prosperity is general and in spite of the high cost of living, the people are well supplied with money which they spend with great liberality. This is taken to mean that the Christmas trade this year will be extraordinarily heavy, and in anticipation of this heavy trade, merchants have provided large stocks which are now ready for the shoppers. And those who shop early, will not only get the cream of the goods, but they will be saving themselves worry and inconvenience and at the same time be doing a kindness to clerks and tradespeople.

Not only is it time to push Christmas shopping activities, but it soon will be time to think of starting Christmas presents on their way. If they are destined to other places, a heavy Christmas trade will also mean a rush of business for the express companies and Uncle Sam's mails, and those who wish to avoid annoyances and delays will start their presents considerably ahead of the usual time.

VETERAN RESPONDS TO MAKER'S CALL

Bishop David Kirk Enters Final Sleep After Long and Useful Life

Bishop David Kirk, who for twenty-six years has been a resident of Rhineland, died at Oshkosh Saturday morning, November 18. The funeral services were held at the Kirk home, 11 East King street Tuesday afternoon, November 21. The Rev. Fred R. Wedge officiating.

David Kirk was born in 1840 at Manhattan, Ohio. Mr. Kirk was a civil war veteran who served his country for four years. During the last years of his life he suffered much, but worked and held on when many another would have given up the battle, manifesting the same valor in his every day life that made him able to endure the hardships on many a battlefield. Deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Kirk, two sons, Lewis C. Kirk and Clarence D. Kirk and two grandchildren. His many friends extend their sympathy to the bereaved ones in their hour of sorrow. Mr. Kirk was a member of the Masonic lodge of this city and a man whom all who knew him in the lodge or out of the lodge were glad to call him brother.

Four generations of the Kirk family have fought to defend the nation's honor. Mr. Kirk's grandfather was a veteran of the Revolutionary war. His father fought in the war of 1812 and he himself was one of the first to volunteer in 1861 to help to save our union. During the Spanish-American war Mr. Kirk was proud to send a son to represent the family name of Kirk that had always answered to the nation's call. Now this friend and brother has answered another call and has gone to join that great parade in the heavens and to gather in a reunion with other good soldiers who have been willing to lay down their lives for others.

Don't forget the Thanksgiving ball to be given by the Eagles at the Armory, Thursday, November 30.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS
The School Board Convention, December 7th, is for YOUR special benefit. EVERY MEMBER SHOULD BE PRESENT on that day. You are urged to attend the two following days as well. According to section 161-9 of the School Laws your district must pay your necessary traveling expenses and a per diem for each day in attendance. Be ready to ask questions. The State Department of Education sends Rural School Inspector A. A. Thomson to be of special help to you.

TEACHERS OF ONEIDA COUNTY
EVERY teacher in the county is expected to attend all THREE days of the Institute. The law authorizes your School Board to close your school for these meetings without loss of salary. If you have any special problems on which you would like help, the Conductor, Professor W. H. Cheever and the County Superintendent will be glad to help you. All the facilities of the Training School are at your service.
BRING YOUR MANUAL. You will want to mark it.
The County Superintendent will be free to discuss the various topics of the Institute and he hopes others will be free to ask questions and make suggestions.

REMOVING THE BANDAGE
"Tom, you may read!" Tom, an overgrown boy, two or three years older than the other children in his grade, rose awkwardly and unsteadily to his feet. The teacher turned to her visitor with a shrug which expressed her utter despair of Tom and of his ability to read. Said she in a whisper, "I think he's just plain dumb. Tom has been in this grade two years and he can't read a bit better now than when he came in. Listen to him." Tom was bent way over his book, peering at the print, studying out the words one by one. The teacher interrupted his hesitations with a sharp "That will do, sit down."
Then she turned to the visitor with resignation in her entire bearing. "What would you do with a hopeless pupil like that?" "Have his eyes examined," the answer came quickly. "Why, I never had thought of that," gasped the teacher, and then with the thought came various recollections of Tom as he sat in his seat crouched down over his book and her sharp admonition to sit up straight; of his utter failure to copy problems or sentences written on the board; of his inability to learn, which came not from lack of trying, but from what she had termed "dumbness".
The teacher visited Tom's father and mother. After considerable persuasion they consented to take the boy to an oculist. Tom was found to be suffering from astigmatism, which caused the words on a printed page to double and dance before his eyes. A pair of glasses corrected the difficulty and Tom returned to school; now able to see as well as any normal boy. He is still handicapped by being two years behind his grade, by a painful lack of self-confidence, and by a reputation for dullness. However, all of these handicaps are being rapidly overcome.
A child who needs glasses needs them at once and not several years later. To wait until he is grown older on the plea that he will break his glasses or outgrow them is to do him an irreparable injury.

SWENSON-DAVIES
At 12:00 o'clock at noon Wednesday, November 15, Miss Ida Swenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Swenson of Woodruff, and George Davies of Rhineland were quietly married at the Jenkinson home, the Rev. Gray, Episcopal minister from Rhineland, performing the ceremony. Miss Norma Marcy and George Jenkinson, both of this place, attended the couple. Only immediate friends and relatives were present at the wedding among whom were the Misses Edith and Jernima Davies of Rhineland, sisters to the groom. Following the ceremony a one o'clock dinner was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Davies departed for Milwaukee. They will make their home in Rhineland where Mr. Davies is employed at the Morgan Garage.
Both Mr. and Mrs. Davies have many friends here who with the "Times" join in wishing them many years of happy married life.—Minocqua Times.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple boarded a south bound train for their honeymoon.
Acting upon a petition signed by a large number of parents, the high school board closed school this week in order that students might have an opportunity to go hunting deer. Considering the number who go each year regardless of whether school keeps or not this was the wise thing to do.
At a meeting of the basketball squad held last week, Earl Denoyer was elected captain for the season. Earl is the only veteran of last year's winning team. Practice was started last week. As most of the players have little or no experience, much work remains to be done before the team can play winning ball. The following players compose the squad: Denoyer, Brooker, Small, Sickler, Harris, Neuville, Carlin, Popko and Schlecht. Prospects are bright for a successful season.

JUSTICE SLAYS BUCK
Madison, Wis., Nov. 17.—A fine five point buck, weighing 180 lbs., rough dressed, now on exhibition in the window of the Capital City market on State street, bears silent testimony to the excellent marksmanship of Justice M. B. Rosenberry of the supreme court, three bullets from the gun of the justice having made good, one through a front leg, one through the body and the other in the head.
Justice Rosenberry killed the deer in Vilas county, and that he lost no time is evidenced by the fact that he finished the job on Monday, two days after the opening of the season and was on hand to sit with the supreme court on Tuesday.

2310 CHILDREN IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

Supt. F. A. Lowell Reports Attendance Increase Of 25 Percent. In 3 Years

To the Honorable County Board of Oneida County:

Gentlemen:
It gives me pleasure to comply with the state law and report to you at this time regarding the schools under my supervision. The school census of June 30th, 1916, shows there were 2310 children of school age outside the city of Rhinelander in Oneida county. For your information I wish to state that in contrast with this number there were 1,861 June 30th, 1913, an increase of 449 in the past three years, practically 25%. Of the number shown by the census of 1916, 1,526 were in the rural, graded or high schools of the county, part or all of the year 1915-1916. This is a large increase in registry over any previous year.

These were taught by seventy-four teachers. Aside from these teachers there is a state graded school and a tri-county high school at Tripoli which take in the children from the town of Lynne, Oneida county, and are taught by five teachers. I also include in my inspection these schools so my supervision extends over the work of 79 teachers. It is my aim to visit all the schools in my district twice and, if necessary, more times during the school year and give every possible aid to better school conditions and better teaching. Already, since the opening of school in early September, I have visited all the schools in the county, the rural schools a full half day each, and it has been my aim to make these visits profitable to the patrons, children and teachers.

Miss Amanda Rice, supervising teacher, who holds her position under an act of the state legislature of 1915, and is paid by the state of Wisconsin, also gives all her time to inspection and assistance. After her first visits, Miss Rice devotes much of her energies to assisting the younger and less experienced teachers.

While the creation of the office of supervising teacher for the counties of the state is work in which I took no part, and over which I have no control, I do feel the step was a wise one. The supervising teacher does not confine her work to visiting schools, but meets school officers and puts forth her efforts in getting the people of the community together, and thus tries to use the school as a bond of common interest and mutual benefit.

Already the state has returned to Oneida county the entire amount of Miss Rice's salary and all her expenses for last year.

Our Training school is another large factor in bettering school conditions in the county. Nor is it confined to the simple work of instruction, but it is used as the nucleus of the entire county school system. It is open six days in a week that teachers and school officers may go there to get information and assistance. The teachers of the county well know that they can always get assistance at the Oneida County Training School. Of course, when the new state normal is established in Rhinelander, this institution at the expense of the state will take care of all the work now done at the County Training School. A permanent county expense of about $2,500 annually will be removed. However, up to date, we feel the expense is small as compared with the benefits of this training school but this work will be equally well done when a normal is established.

It would not be proper to close my report without speaking of another factor which has done much to help the teachers become more proficient in their work. The County Agricultural Representative not only has been a great aid to the teachers but his untiring efforts have placed us on the map as one of the leading agricultural counties of Wisconsin. To Mr. W. D. Juday and his predecessor E. L. Luther is no small amount of credit due for our great success as an agricultural county.

I do believe the cost of these different additions to our educational system has been small as compared with the benefits received. Without your hearty co-operation not one of these steps could have been taken. These rapid strides upward have been due to the progress and liberality of the county board. For this I wish to thank you and your predecessors in office.

The Training school board at its meeting last Friday afternoon by a unanimous vote recommended that the county board place in its levy at this time $2,000 to pay the county's share of the training school outlay for 1917 and $1,250 to defray the county's share of the expenses for the Agricultural Representative.

I recommend that you raise the following amounts to pay the salary and expenses of the County Superintendent and the supervising assistant her amount to be returned by the state, also cost of meetings of the county school committee.

Salary of County Superintendent	$1,200.00
Stationery by itemized account	150.00
Traveling expenses of Co. Supt. itemized account	250.00
Clerk hire	200.00
Expenses of County School Committee	200.00
A total budget of	$2,000.00

They let you know you've been smoking—and yet they're MILD

In other words, Chesterfield Cigarettes are MILD—and yet they satisfy. This is something totally new to cigarettes. It goes further than pleasing your taste—satisfy does for your smoking what a juicy slice of hot roast beef does for your appetite.

Chesterfields satisfy—they let you know you've been smoking.

But they're MILD, too—Chesterfields are!

If you want this new cigarette delight (satisfy, yet mild) you've got to get Chesterfields, because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend. This blend is an entirely new combination of tobaccos and the biggest discovery in cigarette blending in 20 years.

By the way, the law requires that you elect a member of the county school committee for three years to fill the place of George Kelley of Little Rice, whose term expires with this county board meeting. While I do not wish to interfere with your selection, Mr. Kelley is a good and competent member.

Below are the reports of the Principal of the Training School and the Agricultural Representative.

Report of the Principal of the Training School
To the Training School Board:
F. A. Lowell, Secretary.

The records of the Training school show that one of the most important changes made during the year was that of raising the entrance requirements so that the students shall have a year of high school work or the equivalent—formerly, pupils finishing the eighth grade were admitted to the Training school. This change was recommended in the last annual report to your board, and at the same time it was prophesied that the immediate result would be a smaller attendance. Up to the present time, the enrollment, which is twenty-seven, is seven less than it was a year ago at this time, but only those having the equivalent of one year of high school are enrolled. One has withdrawn to teach and one has finished and will soon begin teaching. Of those now attending the school, ten are high school graduates. We can easily accommodate as many as will be likely to apply for admission. At present there is opportunity for excellent work with all the students and the Model department supplies practice for all who are fitted to take it.

Ten of the students from the Training school department are practicing in the model department. This work is under the efficient supervision of Miss Minnie Schofield. While the practice teachers are observed and directed, they are also led to become independent teachers. Children are taught here in the first four grades. The pupils are learning well, and patrons are well pleased with the advancement their children are making. They are given more than ordinary instruction in music by Miss Maude Calvert, the assistant in the Training school department. Miss Calvert is also exceptionally good teacher in all her work.

The students are interested in their work, and those who are taking practice are delighted with it. They respond willingly to the requirements of the faculty. We have never before seen a school so earnest and so well behaved. There is a spirit of co-operation and of sympathy and regard for the school. This spirit seems to be in those who were in the school formerly, as they come in large numbers to the Training school for help in their present work in various parts of the county.

The University is continuing its service of lantern slides this year as heretofore and the faculty of the Training school is continuing the work of going to districts in the county to help the schools in community meetings. The county representative, W. D. Juday, has charge of the agriculture in the Training school, thus our graduates will have a part in the agricultural development of the county. The county supervising teacher and the county superintendent have visited the school this year and have given helpful suggestions. The business management of the school is carefully and effectively handled. The school property is kept in excellent condition by a faithful and competent janitor. The fire escape recently placed on the building has been tried and proved satisfactory. A piano has just been purchased for the model department. The faculty and the janitor are planning to make some improvements in beautifying the grounds and in planting school gardens.

The school is active in improving education in the county, and invites citizens to call for its services whenever possible.

Respectfully submitted,
W. N. MACKIN, Principal.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; also cases of deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (excepted by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

DAY AND NIGHT CALLS ANSWERED PROMPTLY

"For the cause that lacks assistance;
For the wrong that needs resistance;
For the future in the distance
And the good that we can do."

Out of about thirty deer that came down from the north yesterday on the main line of the Chicago and Northwestern Ry., on ten of them no sign of antlers were to be seen unless examined closely. Judge for yourself as to the wisdom of the one back law. It only proves that the majority of hunters will shoot anything that comes along.

JUST CAN'T FORGET IT
Evidently the Antigo Journal will never cease to "over the fact" that the board of normal regents saw fit to award the new normal school to this city instead of granting it to Antigo. Here is the Journal's latest "burst":
"The city council of Rhinelander and the county board of Oneida are going together to purchase the site for the new normal school. The site selected will cost nearly $15,000. The normal school regents went a little beyond their authority in instructing the city to provide a site. All they were instructed to do was to select a city. If there was any further action to be taken the legislature was to do it, and the latter body will do it, and we fear it will be sometime before there will be a normal school at Rhinelander, so they ought not to be too rash in acquiring property for that purpose. The suggestion made by The Journal that the county normals now located in this territory be improved the course of study enlarged, the faculty increased and such other changes made so as to better take care of the needs of the territory in which they are located, has been taken up by the newspapers and individuals as a most practical proposition and will appeal to the legislature as being a more advisable course to pursue than to erect one school where there are no students."

WOMEN ENDORSE ATHLETIC SHOWS

Exhibitions Staged By Rev.
Wedge Receive Support Of Rhinelander Mothers

That the athletic shows being staged in this city under the direction of Rev. F. B. Wedge are meeting with the hearty approval of not only the male population but the feminine sex as well is evidenced by the following endorsements from well known Rhinelander ladies:
"I attended the Athletic Tournament at the Armory Friday night, November 17. It was a pleasure to see so many men attracted to spend an evening watching clean athletic sports of this kind. The effect on the small boys who took part struck me as also good, taking knocks in wrestling contests without losing temper or self control. The manner in which these bouts and contests of strength were conducted, leaves nothing to which the most prudish or critical could possibly object."
Mrs. C. P. Crosby.

"I attended the exhibition of the Rhinelander Athletic Association Friday evening at the Armory and found it a highly commendable exhibit of amateur athletics and clean sport."
Mrs. L. A. Leadbetter.

"The Rhinelander Athletic Association exhibit on November 17, in the Armory was splendid and as a mother who is interested in all boys, I believe a work of this kind is needed in this community."
Mrs. Walter Brown.

"As a mother, who is interested in all boys, I believe after attending the athletic exhibition Friday night, that this good work should go on as I feel we need something of this kind for our boys."
Mrs. Harve Tuttle.

"As a mother of one boy belonging to the new athletic association, I want to say: I am much in favor of the movement and think it just what the boys have been waiting for. I think it will do much good for the physical betterment of the boys of Rhinelander."
Mrs. A. J. Lytle.

"I have two boys who are members of the Rhinelander Athletic Association and take part in the contests. I want them to be strong men."
Mrs. W. J. Dolan.
"I attended the exhibition of the Rhinelander Athletic Association at the Armory last Friday evening and I wish to state that I am an enthusiast of such sports for boys and young men as were put on that night and believe every mother in Rhinelander should be. Weaklings are thereby developed into stronger young manhood and the pent up energy of the average healthy American boy rightly directed will keep him out of a lot of devilry. I recall that on two former pastorates where Mr. Wedge instituted gymnasiums in connection with his church work, the pool halls went out of business soon after in both instances."

TRAIN WRECKERS NOT FOUND

After a month of unceasing work, during which time fifty clues have been run down, the best detectives of the Chicago & Northwestern company's staff have been unable to solve the mystery of the railroad wreck near Manitowoc on Oct. 18, when two lives—that of the fireman and engineer—were lost. The train a fast limited from Milwaukee, was derailed because of a switch that had been purposely turned. The railroad company has a standing offer of $1,000 for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of the guilty persons.

FORM LATIN CLUB

The Latin classes of the High school have formed an organization known as the Latin Club. The membership numbers thirty-three. Wednesday evening the first meeting was held at the residence of R. A. Officers and various committees have been named.

GROWTH OF POULT IS RAPID

Furnish Plenty of Nutritious and Easily Digested Food—Make Changes in Ration Gradually.

The growth of young turkeys is rapid. Give plenty of nutritious and easily digested food. For the first five days feed four parts of bread crumbs and one part of boiled eggs. Feed one meal a day of rolled oats and give all the sour milk they will drink. Change gradually and in three weeks feed six parts of wheat and two parts of corn, with rolled oats once a day. From the time the birds are ten weeks old until maturity give: Wheat, ten parts; whole oats, two parts—increasing to ten parts in two weeks; cracked corn, ten parts.

TREAT WIRE FENCE INJURIES

First Wash Wounds Thoroughly With Warm Water—Use Care Not to Cause Infection.

When animals are injured by getting into a barbed wire fence their wounds should be washed thoroughly with warm water, then the hair around the cut clipped and the wound washed again. Dirt can be removed from the cut by means of absorbent cotton. Care should be taken not to cause infection. A powder made by mixing together equal parts of slaked lime, powdered sulphur and charcoal dusted on, will have a healing effect.

INCREASED GROWTH OF SCAB

For Legumes Limestone Has Other Effects Than That of Merely Counteracting Acidity.

It is just possible that for legumes limestone has other effects than those of merely counteracting acidity. On potatoes burnt lime does certainly increase the growth of scab germs; and in the soil it may increase possibly the number of nitrogen absorbing bacteria which forms the leguminous nodules.

IN OUR great-great-grandfathers' time many New England families had a cask of rum in the cellar.

It was freely offered to guests (except children) and freely partaken of, even as coffee is today.

This old-time custom gradually passed out of existence, for our forefathers recognized it was harmful.

Another old-time custom—coffee drinking—is slowly passing in the same fashion and for the same reason.

The abandonment of coffee drinking is made easy nowadays by the use of Instant Postum, the pure cereal beverage with the coffee-like taste.

Unlike coffee, this purely American table drink contains no "caffeine" or other harmful substance.

Postum is now used daily in tens of thousands of the best of American homes where reason rules and health is valued.

THE LAWYER TELLS THE GOOD JUDGE ABOUT THE STUBBORN ONE

JUDGE, LOOK AT THAT FELLOW FACE—ALWAYS CRUCK FULL OF ORDINARY TOBACCO—SEEMS SOME OF HIS FRIENDS WOULD TELL HIM ABOUT W-B CUT.

I AM SURE HE WOULD APPRECIATE IT.

YOU'RE not sorry for gophers and monkeys with their faces all swelled out—they are built that way, pockets in their cheeks to hold stuff till it's feeding time. But you can't help feeling sorry for a man with a big wad of old kind of tobacco—he isn't even getting satisfaction. W-B CUT is rich tobacco—full of satisfaction—a little chew, is right size, and it cuts out so much chewing and spitting.

"By Their Fruits"—"Know Them"
After the prohibitory liquor law had been in effect in Washington ten months, and after every possible effort had been made by its enemies to break it down and minimize its value, there were some things which indicated beyond controversy its good effects. Here are just a few of them:

The number of prisoners committed to the Monroe reformatory in the first ten months of 1915 was 269. In the first ten months of 1916, under prohibition, it was 140.

The number of prisoners in King county jail, January 1, 1916, was 292. On November 1, ten months later, under prohibition it was 36. The number of suicides in Seattle during the first nine months of 1915 was 72. During the first nine months of 1916, under prohibition it was 36.

The president of a large manufacturing shoe company declared that after ten months of prohibition in Washington the sale of children's shoes had increased fifty per cent. The president of the Western Dry Goods company, Seattle, reported 33 1-3% increase in dry goods sales in ten months of prohibition.

Practically every bank in the city of Seattle reported a marked increase in savings deposits after January 1, 1916, and this held good in other cities of the state.

Naturally the entire press of the state came out in favor of the dry law and united in praise of its good effects.

The mayors of all the leading cities of the state cited the good effects of prohibition and opposed the brewers' efforts for repeal.

The two United States Senators, the governor of the state and practically all candidates for office declared themselves in favor of retaining the dry law and against any measure to weaken or repeal it.

If the dry law were the thing the liquorites painted it, could these facts just quoted have existed?

Is it any wonder the people of Washington rose up in their might and smote the liquor traffic hip and thigh?

With the widespread incontrovertible evidence before their eyes of the success of prohibition where given even half a chance, will not the people of all these United States serve papers of exit upon the entire liquor traffic and bid John Barleycorn begone? THEY WILL!

Big Cities and John Barleycorn
John Barleycorn's stronghold has always been the big city. In the crowded center he has been so firmly entrenched and fortified by corrupt politics, that any attempt to dislodge him seemed hopeless. Previous to 1914 there were only a few prohibition cities of over 100,000 population, but the elections and legislative action of 1914 made bold attacks upon the larger cities and when prohibitory laws went into effect John Barleycorn found himself outlabeled from such big cities as Seattle, Portland, Denver, Birmingham.

The going into effect of Virginia's prohibitory law November 1 brought Richmond, with a population of 180,000, into the dry column. Since that time John Barleycorn has been peremptorily told to make his exit from the city of Toronto, the metropolis of Ontario, Canada, with a population of 400,000, and has been practically banished from Petrograd, the capital of the Russian empire. By the election of November 7 he is served with legal notice that he is outlawed from the city of Detroit, claiming a population of 820,000, which makes it the fifth city in size in the United States; from Omaha, Nebraska, numbering 125,000 people; from Grand Rapids, Michigan, of 112,000 inhabitants.

It has been conceded that when the prohibition movement is able to capture the big cities of the land they have advanced a long way toward a complete occupation of the nation. Not only is the winner of these civic centers progressing with encouraging rapidity, but the cities which have had the experience of being freed from the liquor traffic, have discovered and proclaimed to the world that such emancipation has been also an emancipation from poverty and crime and in a large measure, disease. Mayors, other city officials and prominent citizens of these dry centers who were antagonistic to the anti-liquor movement have, after a few months' observation of the actual results of the law as it affects business, home conditions and morals generally, frankly admitted that they made a mistake in opposing it. It has been proven conclusively that the abolition of the liquor traffic is in large measure a solution of the Big City problem.

Law Compels Bible Reading.

Three states in the Union have enacted laws compelling the daily reading of the Bible in the public schools, namely: Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. The Pennsylvania law requires the reading of at least ten verses and the New Jersey law requires at least five. — Northwestern Christian Advocate.

PROPOSE BETTER STATE GAME LAWS

A statewide forestry law that will give to the conservation commission management of the state lands, so far as the constitution will permit, and otherwise simplify and harmonize the statutes relating to forestry land and state parks is proposed by the conservation commission in its report to Gov. Philipp, filed in the executive office. Authority is asked to sell such forest reserve lands as are suitable for agricultural purposes to settlers, also scattering tracts of state lands. Continuation of the policy of building state roads in the state parks is asked and an appropriation of $40,000 for the purchase of the remaining of the interior holdings within the Devil's lake and peninsula parks.

A long list of recommendations is proposed. Among the more important of these are:

A general open and closed season over the entire state and the repeal of the many special county laws.

A closed season over the entire state for partridge, grouse and prairie chickens.

A change in the open season for wild birds to extend to Dec. 31.

A reduction in the limit of the trout catch from forty-five to twenty-five.

Prohibition of the sale of black bass and muskellunge.

Reduction of the bag limit on geese from ten to five.

An increase of penalty for violation of the game laws—a fine of $300 for the use of dynamite, $100 for having venison in possession out of season, $200 for shipping game to market and $300 for serving venison in lumber camps or hotels.

An amendment of the one-buck hunting law is asked to provide that the buck must have horns at least four inches long.

TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION DISFAVORS ROAD BOND

A proposition to bond this county for $300,000.00 to build roads and bridges has been submitted to the county board by the county highway commissioner.

In view of the magnitude of this proposed debt the Taxpayers' Association feel that the public should be informed why it appears to this association, that the adoption of this proposition at the present time would not be for the best interest of the people of this county, and especially detrimental to the city of Rhinelander.

There is probably no citizen of the county who does not want the county to have a system of good roads—and there are probably very few citizens who believe that we have such system at present, or that under the present administration of the highway department of the county—we are getting what we want, or what the taxpayers are paying for. What the people want is good roads upon usual and main lines of travel through the county—leading from the county seat to the different markets and railroad stations in the county, as contemplated by the state aid law.

The question to solve is, how shall we get them?

It is the opinion of this association after careful consideration and investigation made by the directors, that we can never get them under the present highway law, as it is administered by the state and county authorities in charge at the present time, and that whether we spend one thousand or one million dollars, the result will be practically the same.

The present state aid highway law is a bungle, from start to finish, it is cumbersome in its machinery—contradictory in its terms—capable of misconstruction—worthless in producing practical results, besides being inequitable to the counties forced to act under it.

As the law is construed by the state highway commission, its promise that the state will pay 33 1-3 per cent. of the cost of building the highways in the county amounts to nothing.

Oneida county has had nearly five years experience under this law. During the years 1912-13 and 14, the county and towns spent $127,153 and the state contributed only $2,483.91 for the building of roads in this county, and during the same years Oneida county paid into the highway fund of the state $13,401.83.

It will thus be seen that it cost Oneida county $3,518.92 for the privilege of being in partnership with the state in road making.

We regret that there are no figures available from which we can make comparisons for the years 1915-16, for the reason that the state highway fund during these years has not been apportioned to the counties, but has been taken directly from the general funds of the state. We can only give the amounts spent by the county, state and towns for 1915 and up to October 1, 1916—there being no figures existing which show what amounts the county has paid to the state for highway purposes.

During the period last above stated the county and towns spent for road making in the county $85,290.61 while the state contributed only $18,872.32.

Again, the law promised that all highways should commence at the county seat of each county and lead to the different market towns and railroad stations of the county, and form a connection with the roads of adjoining counties, so that the county seats of the different counties would be connected with each other by a continuous line of road.

As the law is interpreted by the present state and county highway authorities, this idea of a continuous system of roads is entirely ignored in this county. Little sections or pieces of road have been built here and there in the different towns, which connect with nothing and lead nowhere—and for this kind of road tinkering, there has been expended up to Oct. 1, 1916, the enormous sum of $172,903.71, and we have not a single line of continuous good road leading from the county seat to any market town or railway station of the county, or connecting our county seat with the county seat of any adjoining county.

The city of Rhinelander has a more vital interest in this proposition than any of the towns. The city has already paid $30,861.05 for building these pieces of road which have given it no inlet from the other towns of the county—but have really been a damage to it, in allowing travel to go by and around the city without entering it—and should this bonding scheme go through, the city would be obliged to pay at least $100,000.00 for its share of the principal and interest of the county's bonded debt, with no prospect of getting anything better in the future than it has had in the past if present methods are not materially changed—and as $20,000.00 of these bonds must be retired annually, the payment required of the city the first year would be approximately $16,500.00. What does this mean to the individual taxpayer? It means that every taxpayer in the city upon the present basis of equalization, must pay $20.57 on each $1000.00 of assessed value of his property, as his share of taxes to pay these bonds and interest, and his share of the first year's payment would be $3.63 on each $1000.00 of assessed valuation.

Besides—it is very doubtful if the city, with this extra burden, (which it could not escape when once imposed), would be able to raise sufficient funds to carry on the usual business affairs of the city, under the limitations of the city charter.

Again, the law as interpreted by the state and county highway authorities of Oneida county, opens a splendid opportunity for the county board to play politics with the people's money.

If any citizen doubts that this opportunity has not been used in this county, we invite any such to carefully examine the bills which have been presented by the members of the board, for surveying, committee work, labor, inspecting bridges, expenses, and other things, in connection with the road building of the past four years—bearing in mind the O. K. of the County Highway Commissioner, and all allowed in full—of course—and paid out of the general fund of the county.

Such an examination will be enlightening to any taxpayer who will take the time to make the examination—and will convince him that a law and system which can be so warped and twisted to promote private gain at the expense of the taxpayer, is radically wrong in principle, and until it is changed, the public can and will be bled without receiving value received for the money expended.

The best authorities in the state recognize the infirmity of the law—Governor Philipp in his public speeches has pointed out many of these—the Good Roads Association of the state has, through its publications, cited many others—and has generally proclaimed that it is unsatisfactory.

There is little doubt that the legislature at its session this winter will either amend the law to eliminate the defects or repeal it and pass a good straight highway law that will make state aid mean something and relieve the taxpayers from the burdens which can be imposed under the present system.

Until such a law is in existence, properly and economically administered, this Association feels it to be its duty to oppose the bonding of the county for any sum whatever to produce highway funds.

Do the taxpayers desire to throw $300,000.00 more into the same hole that has swallowed $172,000.00 of their money? If not, they should unite to defeat the proposed bond issue.

PHILIPP TO MAKE BUT FEW CHANGES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 20.—The inauguration of the administration in January will mean few changes in the official personnel of the different state offices. It is expected that Gov. Philipp may appoint someone to act as private secretary, while L. C. Whittet is serving in the legislature. At all probability this appointment will go to R. A. Pixley, who acted as the governor's private secretary for a time, and who was active in the management of the last campaign. The name of Carl MacArsey is also being mentioned in connection with this position. Unless the governor appoints Roy L. Morse of Fond du Lac as attorney general, it is quite probable that the appointment of this man as executive general during the session of the legislature will be made. This appointment, however, is good only during the session. When the last legislature was meeting the position was held first by M. J. Cleary of Blanchardville, after his appointment as insurance commissioner by Frank R. Beatty of Baraboo.

Close friends of Merlin Hull, elected as secretary of state, say he contemplates making no immediate changes after he is inaugurated. It is said that he intends to retain L. G. Negler as assistant secretary of state for a time. It is known that a number of different applications have been filed with Mr. Hull for this position, but so far he has not indicated that a change is intended at once.

There will be no changes by State Treasurer Henry Johnson in the office of the attorney general all depends upon the turn which affairs in that office take. If Mr. Owen resigns, two positions will be left open in reality—the attorney generalship as well as the deputy attorney generalship. The assistant attorney generals are appointed from the civil service rolls, but the deputy is selected by the chief. The deputyship is now held by Walter Drew. The attorney general received a salary of $5,000 and the deputy about $3,500.

PLENTY OF GAME ON RESERVATION

Although the Odanah Indian reservation is one of the best hunting grounds in northern Wisconsin the white man has little to gain from this fact because his activities in those parts are tabooed, asserts the Ashland Press.

This immense reservation, comprises 124,333 acres, and Red Cliff reservation is about half as large. The Indians know no closed season, for they can legally hunt on their reservation at any time, the immense swamps embracing Kakagon sloughs, furnishing a safe shelter for all kinds of game, from black bear to fish and ducks.

Although the Indians hunt all seasons the records show that but one Indian has been shot by an Indian hunter in the last quarter of a century. The Indian who was shot had killed a deer which he was carrying on his back, and as he was ascending a small hill, a hunter in the distance saw the horns of the dead buck as they emerged over the hill top, and shot and wounded the Indian who was carrying the burden. During the same period hundred of fatalities have been caused by white hunters.

ONEIDA FREE FROM INFANT PLAGUE

Oneida was one of the few counties in Wisconsin which reported no cases of infantile paralysis this year. Other counties which were free from the disease were Bayfield, Columbia, Crawford, Florence, Green Lake, Iron, Juneau, LaFayette, Marquette, Price, and Vilas. During July, August and September 350 cases of the plague were reported in this state.

According to the quarterly report of the bureau of vital statistics, this disease did not appear in epidemic form in any locality, but it is feared that on account of its widespread infection an epidemic of serious proportions may develop next year. For this reason the state board of health has advised all municipalities to institute a fall clean-up campaign and to keep sanitary conditions in the district as ideal as possible.

During the period noted, the health officers of the state reported 512 cases of diphtheria, 235 cases of typhoid fever, 701 cases of whooping cough, 73 cases of smallpox, 476 cases of scarlet fever, 384 cases of measles, 383 cases of tuberculosis, 30 cases of meningitis, 150 cases of chickenpox, and 3 cases of ophthalmia neonatorum (infantile blindness).

GOPHERS VICTORS OVER BADGERS

The crushing defeat handed to the Wisconsin University eleven by the Minnesota team at Minneapolis Saturday stunned the Badger followers. A close score would have been no disgrace, for the Gophers were never in better shape for a battle than last Saturday, but 54 to 0 was enough to bring Phil King back to the old stamping grounds. As one man stated after the game: "The Badgers did not play football. They dreamed through four quarters."

The Badgers surely did dream. They lacked ginger from the start and did not act like a team that intended going in to win. Every time the Gophers made a shift the players rushed from one position to another on a run. When the Badgers changed the players walked leisurely from one side to the other and the spectators could not help but notice the difference in the manner of play of the two teams. The Gophers started every play with a vim and rush that left no doubt as to their confidence; in fact, they worked at top speed from the first whistle until the end of the game.

Minnesota rooters said afterwards that the Minnesota team acted against Illinois as the Badgers did against the Gophers on Saturday. If that is the case, it is no wonder Illinois beat them.

The Badgers did not have the ball more than six or eight times in the game and when they did there was no effort to put ginger into their work. They tried straight football and found the Minnesota line like a stone wall. They tried a forward pass (short one) twice during the game and the kicking was of an inferior order. Such work in the days of Pat O'Dea would have driven the rooters mad. The left side of the Badger line was weak and the Gophers smashed it as they pleased. It is not the intention to find fault with the coaching, etc., but merely to point out that the Badgers played like a bunch of dead ones.

In contrast to the poor work of the Badgers was the brilliant work of the Gophers. Doc Williams had his men shifting about so fast that it was almost impossible to tell who was carrying the ball—the end man, guard, backs or tackles. Their shifts were worked to perfection and the forward passes executed with dash and brilliancy. Wyman, Baston and Long seemed to work as one man. They played wonderful football. Long made one run of 65 yards and Baston another of 45. While the passes were sensational, three passes of 30 and 35 yards were put over in quick succession and at one time a pass of 38 yards over the goal line for a touchdown was successfully engineered. The Gopher runners always had splendid interference and that is where the Wisconsin team was weak. Meyers played a star game for the Badgers, but the team work was lacking.

NEWS NOTES FROM NEARBY CITIES

Antigo—Teachers here are working overtime trying to cram eight years' work into one to teach Marvin Worden, 17 years old, who for 8 years has not spoken a word, to talk by Christmas time. They believe that by that time Marvin, who is deaf, will be able to control all of the vocal sounds. Now he speaks barely above a whisper, but the effort for him to talk is becoming less daily. A few months ago his case was brought to the attention of the Community Welfare association. Through the kindness of friends, he was taken to the Mayo brothers' hospital at Rochester, Minn., where he was thoroughly examined. The examination disclosed the fact that all of the boy's vocal organs were normal. It was believed by the physicians that they were paralyzed several years ago and that he became so used to not talking that he made no effort to talk when the paralysis disappeared.

Florence—Although the cries for help of Leslie Hall, 14, and his brother Howard, 8, were heard by three companions on shore, they were unable to lend assistance and the two perished in Fisher lake, near here. The victim had been playing on the ice, Leslie skating and pulling his brother on a sled. They struck an airhole. Their cries were heard by Fred Books, Chester Erickson and Emil Larson, Jr., but the ice proved too treacherous to allow them to go to their rescue. Instead, they ran a full mile to town without stopping to secure assistance. The bodies were recovered several hours later, after the ice had been broken and the lake dragged.

Ladysmith—A big black bear made Ladysmith a visit of inspection early Thursday morning and after wandering through the town, from one side to the other, made his escape with a whole skin. He was seen by a few people in the east part of the city at about five o'clock and his tracks were plainly visible in the snow all day and were seen by many people, startled to see bear tracks through their yards and in some cases right up to their doorsteps. Bruin evidently entered the city on the south side and rambled up through the town, crossing the railroad near the new high school and thence wandering up Worden avenue and through the R. S. Johnson yard. He then made his way north and east to the river which he crossed on the ice and made his departure from the city through the paper mill pulp yard.

Washburn—Game wardens have been doing a land office business in the arrests of violators of the game laws during the past week according to advices reaching this city and several Washburn people have been caught in their net, many being charged with killing does which are protected by law. It is said that there are nearly half a hundred game wardens operating in Bayfield county at the present time and that nearly every section of the hunting country is being covered.

Ironwood—It is understood that there is now some talk in Ironwood among the prohibition element to have a "wet" and "dry" election in Gogebic county at the next spring election and in the event that the election were held and the voters gave a majority to the "drys" the county would go into the "dry" column next May, instead of in May, 1918. The "drys" doubtless figure that because of Gogebic county's majority in favor of prohibition at the recent state-wide election the result would be practically the same if a vote were taken in the entire county again next spring.

Ashland—Mistaken for a deer, shot in the leg and then left in the woods to die was the experience of Joseph Stauber of Cayuga. "Three of us left Cayuga to hunt deer," Stauber said. "When I was in the thickest of the woods, I heard a shot. Following shortly upon this report another shot rang out and a rifle charge caught me in the right leg, tearing the flesh badly. The man who shot at me knew that he did not shoot a deer, for I could hear him retreat through the brush. He made no effort to help me but ran away as fast as possible. Here I was in the center of the woods, wounded and no one to aid me. I managed to drag myself for some distance when by repeated cries, I finally got the attention of my two companions, who rushed to my assistance and helped me to Cayuga."

Wasted Effort.—Comb and brush in hand, a Pittsfield (Mass.) man sat in front of a mirror and fussed and fumed trying to prevail on a refractory hair to lie down. He resorted to water—then to oil, but all without avail. The hair simply wouldn't behave. Finally he looked a little more closely and discovered that the "hair" was a crack in the plaster behind him.

OWEN MAY RESIGN

Madison, Nov. 16.—Rumor is current here that Atty. Gen. Walter C. Owen may resign on Jan. 1, to enter into the practice of law here. Owen does not deny the rumor. The rumor is that the firm of Richman & Jackman have made an arrangement for Mr. Owen to join their firm. Originally the Richman-Jackman & Swanson, but S. T. Swanson resigned on Nov. 15, to become an attorney for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company in Milwaukee. It is the resignation of Mr. Swanson, that Mr. Owen is supposed to fill.

It is said here that Atty. Gen. Owen favors the appointment of Walter Drew as attorney general in case he should resign.

There is nothing in the constitution that prohibits the attorney general from resigning.

Grandmother Gocse.
The king was in his motor car—all day he had been spinning, the queen was in the parlor, playing "bridge" and winning; the laundress in the garden was hanging out her clothes, when "whizz-z-z" came an aeroplane and struck her on the nose.—Indianapolis Star.

Mexico's Capital City.
Mexico City, the capital of Mexico, is a town of some historic interest, while its cathedral is regarded as the handsomest church on the American continent. The foundation stone of this edifice was laid in 1503 on the site of a former heathen temple. The national museum is filled with treasures of Aztec civilization, and various memorials of the hapless Maximilian and the beautiful Carlotta lend a luster to this attractive city. The climate is good and the population about 471,000, many of whom are Americans and Germans.

Childhood's Humors.
Our memory goes back to the time when our idea of the foremost American humorist was a bigger boy named Eddie O'Toole, who skillfully eluding the teacher's eye, took a black lead pencil and changed the name of "The Fairy Revel," a pretty little song in the fourth-grade singing book, to "The Hairy Devel," so neatly that you'd almost have thought it was printed that way originally.—Columbus (Ohio) Journal.

Unimportant Theft.
"Too bad about Jaggs. Fancy a man, as Shakespeare says, putting an enemy into his mouth to steal away his brains." "Oh, well, it's only petty larceny in Jaggs' case, anyway."

GREEN LICENSE PLATES

The 1917 Wisconsin licenses will be quite similar in design to the present ones, but are of somewhat better stock, although they cost the state exactly the same, 9.5 cents a pair. The contract is let to a Green Day company, of which ex-Congressman Gustav Kuestermann is a member. It is expected that the first delivery will be made by the middle of December, so tags will be on hand for the first of the year. Probably 15,000 or more will be delivered first. As there were 115,000 licenses issued in the past year, it is expected the number will run above 120,000 for 1917. The contract is let within this number, with provision for continuing delivery until all applications are filled.

CHILDREN'S EYES TESTED FREE

Dr. J. M. Bricker, optometrist, whose offices are at 112½ S. Brown street, announces that during the school year he will examine free of charge the eyes of all school children, who apply to him for such examination. In cases where glasses are required Dr. Bricker will furnish them at one-third cost and to children, whose parents are in poor circumstances and unable to pay, glasses will be provided free.

WOLFE TO SUCCEED AWLWARD

The name of William F. Wolfe, defeated Democratic Senatorial candidate, will be forwarded Thursday to Attorney General Gregory or United States district attorney for the western district of Wisconsin, United States Senator Paul Hastings told the United Press today. The death of John Aylward left that position open.

VISITING CLERGYMEN

Rev. W. R. Dixon of Antigo, Rev. M. Waters of Eagle River, and Rev. Barbour of Tomahawk will speak in the Congregational church Wednesday, Nov. 29 at 7:30 o'clock. You will be repaid by spending an hour to hear these men. A banquet will probably be given by the Ladies' Aid Society on the same evening at 6:30. All are welcome.

THE INSIDE OF THE CUP

"The Inside of the Cup" sermons are taken from the words of Jesus found in the twenty-third chapter of St. Matthew, the twenty-fifth verse. "Wee unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess." The application of this truth is made by the well known author Winsten Churchill. The characters are members of a wealthy aristocratic church in a great city in the middle west. The Goodriches, the Gores, the Warings, the Prestons, the Atterburys and Eldon Parr are multi-millionaires who like a flock of religion for respectability. Dr. Gilman is their rooster and he never interferes with their business no matter how crooked are their dealings with their fellow men. John Kedder the new rector comes to take the old minister's place and the series of sermons preached "The Inside of the Cup" will bring out the battle Nedder had or any other minister who steps away from tradition and preaches a practical gospel. "Inside of the Cup" has caused a stir among the minister and church folks all over the country. If you are interested in a twentieth century application of the teachings of Christ you will never miss one of these sermons preached at the Baptist church.

FLASHES FROM THE HEADLIGHT

A material reduction in intra-state shipping rate on agricultural implements, vehicles and articles of this nature in carloads has been announced by the state railroad commission in a decision handed down in the case of Lindsay Brothers, Milwaukee, against railroads operating in Wisconsin. The commission ordered the Chicago and North Western, the Soo, the Omaha and Ohio and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads to discontinue the levying and collection of group rates on those articles and to substitute before January 1, 1917, a distinct rate schedule compiled by the commission for from five to two hundred miles. The average reduction will be from ten to twelve percent.

Good-bye North Western red.

The North Western Railway Co. has abolished red paint as the official color for its depots and buildings and substituted a pretty gray. The new depot at Caspian was the first on the range, and probably the first in the Upper Peninsula, to get a coat of the newly adopted color. The change is for the better from a standpoint of beauty, at least, and the new station has the honor of being the first to introduce it.

There was a time when practically all the railroads in the country clung to the red paint idea. Then the Pennsylvania went to dark green and the Big Four to a yellow, which is now an established color and known in the paint market as "Big Four Yellow." Now the North Western has placed a ban on red and their color may become known in future years as "North Western Gray," as it is a distinct tint, unlike any other gray.—Iron River Reporter.

A crew of from sixty to seventy men yesterday finished replacing rails weighing 72 pounds to the yard with new ones weighing 90 pounds to the yard between Wolf River Junction and Summit Lake. They have been at work since September 5. Today they were transferred to Woodruff. As soon as heavier rails are laid from the south switch in this city to Wolf River Junction the rails from Antigo to Summit Lake, a distance of fifteen miles will be completely replaced. This work will be done as soon as possible. The rails are on hand but some delay has been experienced in securing the fastenings.—Antigo Journal.

CASSIAN

Louie Bergstrom, Fred, Otto and Ira Randall departed for Malvern Tuesday morning.

The hunters who have been at the Ossman and Gaedike homes departed for their homes recently without a deer.

Mrs. Lillian Zeitelbeck and daughter Margaret of Tomahawk, attended the Wogland-Sparks wedding and visited at the Ira Smith home last Wednesday and Thursday.

E. C. Farris was a Tomahawk business visitor the first of the week.

Ira Smith was a Rhinelander business visitor Tuesday and Wednesday.

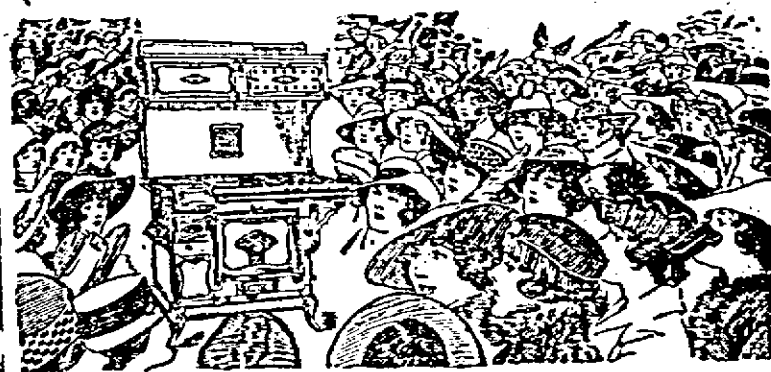

Mrs. John Raab and daughter Minnie will go to Minocqua soon to cook in camp for Wm. Schlect.

The marriage of Miss Lilly Wogland of Cassian to Harford C. Sparks of Dunn Center, N. D., was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Oelta Wogland, at three o'clock, Wednesday, Nov. 15, Rev. Madland of Merrill officiating. They were attended by Miss Minnie Raab and Arvin Wogland. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of cream voile, lace and ribbons, while the groom wore the conventional black. They were the recipients of many beautiful and expensive remembrances from their guests which numbered more than 100. After the ceremony all repaired to Smith's hall where a bountiful wedding repast was served followed by a dance and supper in the evening. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Reynolds. Mr. and Mrs. Sparks departed Friday evening for Granton, Wis., where they will visit his folks several days before going to his home at Dunn Center. The best wishes of the whole community go with them.

It is with sadness we chronicle the death of Mrs. Gelia Marsh Paetean, who passed away at her home at Bixby, South Dakota, Sunday, Nov. 19. Her mother Mrs. L. J. Marsh having heard of her illness, departed for Bixby Saturday evening on the limited over the Soo, but another telegram came Monday morning saying Mrs. Paetean had departed this life.

Mrs. Paetean was born at Freemont, Wis., Feb. 4, 1885; she was well and favorably known in this county, having taught in the district schools several years. She was a graduate from the Bismarck high school in the class of May 25, 1905, with M. T. Cady as principal. She leaves to mourn her departure her husband, Albert Paetean, two little daughters aged 4 and 2 years of Bixby. Her parents Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Marsh of Cassian; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Lucian of Oshkosh, Mrs. A. K. Tresness of Cassian and two brothers, Eugene of Cassian and Roy of Bixby, S. D. Of her relatives only her mother and brother Roy will be able to attend the obsequies. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved relatives.

You've Wanted a Range Like This—Here It Is

Every housewife in America has long dreamed of a range that would successfully burn coal or wood or gas or oil, singly or in combination. The Duplex-ALCAZAR is the first range to fully fill the bill. It is as near perfection in construction, operation and results as human brains and great manufacturing facilities can make it. Furnished in two types to burn coal, wood and gas, or coal, wood and oil as fuel. The Duplex-ALCAZAR is a year-round range that conforms to every conceivable weather condition and every possible requirement of cooking. The change from fuel to fuel is made instantly. In its very simplicity lies its strength.

The Duplex-ALCAZAR Range is made in steel—cast iron and porcelain construction. Style range is great enough to fit every conceivable condition and need. You will recognize its unique merit when you see the range itself. Back of these ranges is the most progressive stove factory in America.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

At the Congregational church Sunday there will be held special Thanksgiving services at eleven o'clock and at four-thirty. In the morning the choir will render Thanksgiving music and the pastor will deliver a message in keeping with the day.

The vesper hour, 4:30 p. m. will be devoted to a sacred song service. Several able musicians of Rhinelander will render parts on the program. Let everybody come out and enjoy this musical program and take part in this Thanksgiving service. An offering will be taken at both services for the needy of our city. This money will be dispensed by the Visiting Nurse Association. May the offering be a fine expression of our christian spirit and of our thankfulness for the blessings of the past year.

CARD OF THANKS

STRANGERS IN A STRANGE TOWN

The lure of the bright lights and the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game induced several of Rhinelander's citizens to journey to Minneapolis and see Wisconsin down the lolly Minnesota eleven, but the worm turned and Minnesota romped away with the Badgers by a 51 to 0 count.

Now among these citizens three of our promising young men (whose names will not be mentioned at this time) who were disappointed in the outcome of the battle belabored it upon themselves to offset this defeat by a sumptuous repast. In accord with their plans they strolled down the leading thoroughfare in search of a place to appease their hunger, when their nostrils detected an appetizing order permeating the atmosphere. They turned, and lo! a luxurious Cafeteria greeted their astonished eyes. They entered and selected a seat at one of the many tables, and of course being good looking young men were approached by one of the handsome blondes that adorned the place. After looking over the menu they decided to order a $1.00 meal, including such delicacies as meat, potatoes and the various other victuals that are included in a regular meal. After a few minutes the coveted meal was placed before them, and they noticed with regret that there were no potatoes. Knowing the present high price of potatoes it dawned upon them that potatoes were not served with anything less than a $2.00 order, but as their eyes wandered to their trimmings they discovered a huge mountain of what they presumed to be ice cream covered with an elaborate coating of chocolate, and of course the potatoes were forgotten. After indulging in enough of the more commoner food to satisfy their craving they started on their pie and supposedly ice cream, when to their astonishment they found, upon tasting the delicious looking dish, that it was nothing but the missing potatoes covered with rich brown gravy like mother used to make, and so dear readers you have the story of the three young men and the mystery of the missing potatoes.

MISTAKEN FOR DEER, KILLED
Tom Anderson, age 29, was the victim of a hunting accident near Hurley, Wednesday. Anderson was hunting between Upson and Hurley, when some careless hunter mistook him for a deer and shot him through the heart.
It is said by the party who found Anderson that he ran for nearly twenty feet after being shot then dropped in his tracks.
There is absolutely no trace of the hunter who shot Anderson, and he may never be known.
Anderson was a barber.

PROFIT FROM PIGEONS

Eggs Usually Fertile If Birds Are Properly Fed.

Fountains or Pans Are Best Adapted for Drinking Vessels—Mixture of Staple Grains May Be Used for Feeding.

Drinking Fountain.

Pigeon eggs are usually fertile if the pigeons are healthy and properly fed, especially when they have free range. One squab (usually the male) frequently hatches first, and where there are several cases where one squab outgrows its nest mate, it may be advisable to sort the squabs in the nests, making the pairs as uniform as possible in size and age. If the parent bird dies the squabs may sometimes be removed to a nest where there is only one squab, or they may be fed artificially, although this process takes considerable time.

Roosts of various sizes, usually arranged in perpendicular rows, are placed at convenient points in the pen. A good type of roost is A-shaped made of two boards about 5 inches wide and 6 or 7 inches long, placed directly over each other so that the pigeons will not soil one another with their droppings. If hoppers or feed troughs are used they should be of good size, while the hoppers should be constructed so that the pigeons cannot waste the grain easily by throwing it onto the floor. Fountains or pans with floats in which the pigeons cannot bathe are best adapted for drinking vessels, while a galvanized-iron pan from 3 to 4 inches deep and 15 to 25 inches in diameter makes a good bath pan.

Many varieties of grain are used in feeding pigeons. A good mixture of staple grains may be made of equal parts by weight of cracked corn, hard red wheat, kafir corn, and Canada cent) of hemp and millet seed added during the molting season. Other grains which may be substituted for or added to these are peanuts, oats or hulled oats, buckwheat, Egyptian corn, barley, cowpeas, and milo maize, while a small quantity of stale bread, rice, rape, millet, canary, vetch, and sunflower seed may be fed for variety. Canada peas are expensive, but seem to be essential to the best results, especially during the breeding season, and apparently take the place of green feed to some extent. Peanuts are being used to some extent in place of Canada peas. Green feed, such as cut clover, alfalfa and grass, lettuce, and plantain leaves may be fed to advantage, but is not absolutely essential.

Blunt Instruction.

A fashionable painter, noted for his prosaic output, was discussing at a studio tea in New York a recent scandal in the picture trade. "Look here, old man," said a noted etcher, "do you paint all your own pictures?" "I do," the other answered hotly, "and with my own hands, too." "And what do you pay your hands?" the etcher inquired. "I'm thinking of starting an art factory myself."

38 YOUNG PEOPLE DUE FOR STUDY

New Continuation School To Open In This City Tuesday Morning

The Continuation school opened Tuesday. Classes of both boys and girls met in the afternoon at the high school. The boys' classes will devote two hours to academic work and two hours to shop work. There will be a short recess between these classes which will be spent in the gymnasium. Mr. Short will for the present teach all of the boys classes. The girls' classes will spend two hours in academic work and two hours in the study and practice of cooking. Miss Nellie Weddell of the high school force, will teach the cooking classes, and Miss Olga Johnson has been secured to teach the academic work.

A careful search of the city has resulted in the finding of but 38 young people who are due to attend this school. Of the 19 girls, 6 have completed the 6th grade; 7 the 7th grade; and 6 the 8th grade. Of the 19 boys, 6 have completed the 6th grade; 4 the 7th, and 8 the 8th grade. One of the boys belongs to the 5th grade and he will be returned to the city schools. We are very glad there is such a small number dropping out of school. So far, we have been able to find but four children of 14 years of age not attending some school regularly. There are eleven 15-year olds, and the rest of those attending this school are all 16 years old or over. The city is to be congratulated on such fine school spirit. Nearly every one of these who has dropped out has done so because of necessity.

If any one knows of other boys or girls from 14 to 16, who are not in school, Principal Fred Short will be very grateful for the information. He may be found at the High school office at 8 o'clock in the morning or 1 o'clock in the afternoon; He is making his home at the residence of John Murphy, 110 S. Pelham.

During the early part of the week, Principal Short saw most of the employers of the boys and girls who are due to attend the Continuation school. In practically every case he found them most willing to cooperate with the school to the extent of excusing these young people to attend school.

Any one interested in the Continuation school is cordially urged to visit it at any time. Classes will be found on the third floor of the High school on every school afternoon except Monday.

A Good Time Guaranteed

The High school one afternoon last week with a short recital, consisting of three beautiful songs. Mrs. Hampton played the accompaniments in her usual happy manner.

Basket ball has commenced with great vigor and earnestness. The chances for a good team look fine at this time. Over fifty of the boys have adopted the training rules which were printed in last week's notes, and we look forward to seeing the number become one hundred in the near future.

Educational papers are devoting a large amount of space to the question of over-age pupils in the grades. A prominent factor in leading children to leave school is over-age. When a child becomes two to four years older than the others in his grade, he becomes discouraged and unhappy and usually wants to quit. Several estimates are given as to the number of pupils who are over-age in city grades. In some cities the number runs as high as 60 or 70%.

Another bad result of repeating grades, which is really the cause of over-age, is the extra expense of instruction. Pupils who spend but one year in a grade have to be taught for eight years before entering High school. One who repeats one year receives nine years of teaching, and one who repeats two years receives ten years, etc.

A few years ago, the teachers of Rhinelander took a census of the pupils in the grades and discovered that of the 810 pupils in the eight grades 276 had repeated at least one grade, 22 had repeated two grades, and several had repeated 3, 4 or 5 grades. The 276 repeaters if divided into grades of the ordinary size would make six or seven classes, which must be taught for one year. If teachers had been secured for $55 dollars per month, for that is the average wage the teaching alone of these six grades would cost over three thousand dollars. We are engaged in an investigation now to find how many repeaters there are in the grades at present. For several years we have been endeavoring to cut down the number of failures. In 1913, 117 pupils failing to be promoted, in the next year, 51 failed, the next 27. The results of the investigation will be published soon.

An important cause of failure in grade work is unnecessary absence from school. Parents should hesitate before they allow pupils to stay out of school unless it is absolutely necessary. Even one day's absence may produce a slump in work that may result in discouragement and finally failure. While the writer is unable to say positively, it is his firm belief that the larger proportion of these pupils failing in their work show poor attendance records. An accurate statement of the relation of attendance and promotion will be made in this column in the near future. Another strong factor is the lack of personal interest in the pupil's work on the part of the parents. Parents cannot realize how much a little definite daily expression of interest in the pupil's work will do.

A Parent-Teachers' meeting will be held at the High school on Friday evening, December 8, Professor W. H. Cheever of the Normal at Milwaukee will address the parents at this occasion. Mr. Cheever comes to us through the courtesy of Superintendent F. A. Lowell, at whose institute Mr. Cheever speaks that week.

The attendance at the High school still remains the largest it has ever been. There are 270 pupils actually enrolled this month.

The high school orchestra, organized last spring holds regular meetings on Thursday afternoon at the home of S. D. Sallitt. We are looking forward to the time when this orchestra will be ready to play for us. It is being taught and directed by Mrs. Jessie Hampton whose services for this purpose are given free. We all appreciate most highly Mrs. Hampton's interest in the musical development of the school.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

Kathryn Rice of Pelican Lake has enrolled in the school.

Muriel Bull of Cavour returned to school Monday after one week's absence.

Ethel Anderson of Three Lakes, having completed her course in the Training school, returned to her home. She expects to teach school soon after Thanksgiving. The school bade her farewell with best wishes for the future success.

Ora Hill spent the week end at her home in North Crandon.

The Juniors of last year are looking forward to a pleasant meeting with the graduates of this school who will be here at the institute Dec. 7-9.

The sewing class is now learning to make even stitches.

All departments have been enjoying the coasting on the Training school hill.

"The Telephone Rang."

"And the telephone rang!" is the burden of some verses read lately, describing all the things that happened and didn't happen in consequence. The way one woman escaped wearisome trips up and downstairs in response to 'phone calls was by using a desk telephone with a very long cord. Then she took the telephone upstairs, downstairs, or on the gallery, wherever she happened to be. When the bell rang the interruption was at least close at hand.

W. D. JUDAY DOING LITTLE CHATS EXCELLENT WORK ABOUT POULTRY

County Representative's Annual Report Tells Of Agricultural Progress

Report of County Agricultural Representative, W. D. Juday, To the Honorable Agricultural Board of Oneida County: Gentlemen:

Since Nov. 1915, I have made 621 farm visits and have visited 205 different farms. There have been 925 office and telephone calls and 3,352 letters written. I have given talks at 55 farmers' meetings attended by 1943 people.

Considering beneficial results obtained, the potato development work has been the most important. Better seed was planted and better cultural methods used than ever before. With a season adverse to the potato crop our county has realized better than an average yield and the quality has never been finer. Our potatoes have topped the market the entire season. By winning first over all counties of the state at the state potato show last year and later on making such a good showing at the National Potato show, Oneida county received such effective advertising that it was possible for the certified seed growers to sell their product for from 25 to 50 cents per bushel in advance of the regular market price. 4,000 bushels of the certified seed of all varieties were sold at $125 per bushel and over 6,000 bushels at $1.00. This advertising also brings better prices for table stock in that it is the means of getting more buyers in the field and the stronger competition makes for higher prices to the farmer. Never have potatoes been bought on so small a margin as this year.

The dairy work is of equal importance with the potato development, but it can not be pushed so fast and the results are slower to be seen. The principal work in this line consisted in bringing into the county pure bred animals which are to be used as the foundation of future registered herds and in keeping accurate account of the production of herds in different parts of the county. It is an evident fact that at least 1-3 of the cows of the county are kept at a loss and every effort will be made to eliminate these unprofitable cows from the herds. The coming year we are planning to test a number of herds to find out whether or not any of the animals have tuberculosis. It is our belief that the native cows of the county are free from this dread disease, and if we find such to be the case, we can keep the disease out of our herds by introducing non affected animals into the county.

The third important line of work consisted in the improvement of the grain crops. This was done in two ways, first, by helping them treat all their seed for the prevention of smut. Last year at the state grain show, Oneida county had the best sample of oats exhibited both in grain and sheaf and also second best sample of spring wheat. The farmers have found so far that the pedigree grains out-yield the common ones and are much better in quality.

For 18 weeks the Agricultural Representative taught agriculture in the Training school. We consider this work very important, for were it not for this agricultural training a large percentage of the rural teachers would begin their country schools with no knowledge whatever of the fundamental principles of agriculture.

Besides these main phases of the work the County Representative takes up individual problems of the farmers with them. Better dairy rations are worked out, profitable commercial fertilizers selected, crop rotations planned, silos built, buildings planned, potatoes and seed grains bought and sold and live stock improved.

It is the business of the County Representative to call on every farmer who asks for his services and then so far as possible visit every other farmer in the county. But the territory is large and the visiting time limited. For this reason any farmer wishing the services of the Agricultural Representative should feel free to call upon him or write him at any time. Every farmer will be given prompt attention and each call taken care of in the regular order.

The ultimate object of this work is to make Oneida county a more desirable place in which to live both in a financial and social way, and any help toward the furtherance of this cause will always be appreciated.

Respectfully submitted, W. D. JUDAY, County Agricultural Agent.

New North advertising brings home the bacon. Ask any judicious merchant.

Frank Green, of the Rhinelander Creamery & Produce company, left Sunday for Rochester, Minn., where he will consult the Drs. Mayo. For some time past he has been a sufferer from stomach trouble and it is possible that he will be obliged to submit to an operation.

Robert G. Robertson, city clerk, is feeling rather ghouly these days and his friends say that the cigars which he is passing around are of mighty fine quality. A baby daughter, who came to Bob's house Friday morning, explains everything. The little lady has a lusty pair of lungs, but Bob declares he doesn't in the least mind being kept awake all night.

(By G. E. Conkey)

In our last article we dealt with the dressing of poultry for market—a very important subject. However, it is forced to share honors with the subjects forming the base of this article, for poultry that is packed too soon or packed improperly, never reaches the market in a desirable condition, regardless of how well fattened or how carefully it has been dressed.

Many persons have the idea that the best thing to do is to ship the birds as soon after being killed as possible, while, in fact, nothing can be more hurtful to their sale.

After a turkey has been dressed, it should be removed to a cool place where it can hang for at least ten to twelve hours. It should never be dipped in water or be allowed to touch anything else while the animal heat is leaving the body.

Chickens, ducks and geese should be immersed in a tub of water as soon as all the feathers have been removed and allowed to remain therein for an hour or two. This will plump them and, in the case of the chicken, will make it look bright and clean by removing the scruff.

After they have remained in the water some time they should be hung up where they can drain thoroughly, in the same manner as the turkey. This will require from six to ten hours.

Points To Be Remembered

Never plump a turkey.

Always plump a chicken, duck or goose.

Allow them to hang until every muscle is rigidly set.

Never allow them to touch each other or anything that will prevent the free action of the air around them.

Never pack as long as one drop of water remains on them.

Never pack until all animal heat has disappeared.

When the birds have become thoroughly cooled, grate them, placing all second or third quality stuff by itself. Then give all your attention to the packing. Attractive appearance is half the battle when the time comes to sell, and cases or barrels must be packed carefully, if you wish to insure safe transportation.

Never pack straw or hay between the birds; this is important. A farmer once said, after having slept upon a spring bed instead of a mattress, that "it had designs on him that were worse than useless,—they were downright hurtful." So it is with poultry—every straw leaves its mark and, when removed from the barrel, their appearance is hurt and therefore their value.

The best way is to spread a bunch of clean straw or hay evenly over the bottom of the box or barrel, over this a layer of strong paper, then start to pack. Fill every available space, protecting the tender skin wherever possible and when the package is full, spread another sheet of paper over the top of the poultry and some straw between it and the lid.

See that the package is strong, well packed and securely closed, and you need have no fear of the way the stock will carry.

A barrel is generally preferable if you can fill it full, for it is easier to pack and contains much less waste space than a box, and is also much easier to handle.

In warm weather always ship by express. In cold—the freights may be used, providing you allow plenty of time for delivery when you are desirous of reaching the city in time for a certain market.

Of course, different markets require birds finished in different ways. For instance, a bird drawn and with its head and feet removed is demanded in Pittsburgh, while the same bird in Philadelphia would sell at several cents per pound less than the ruling market price.

Therefore, a study of the demands of your market must be made, but after you have this information, you can tap the market prices by watching the little things and by mastering the methods of dressing, cooling and packing described in these articles.

Have it said of you that your shipments always "top the market."

Practical Economy

Baking powders made from alum or phosphate may be bought for a trifle less than Royal Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes.

Alum powders are not only cheap, but they differ greatly in leavening power.

If a cheap baking powder is used for a fine cake and the cake turns out a failure there is a waste of costly materials worth more than a whole can of the cheap baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder produces the finest food, and its use therefore, results in an actual saving.

U HIS MAJESTY, KING TURK: U

REDUCING COST OF PORK PRODUCTION

PIGS ON OAT AND PEA FORAGE.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The cost of pork is reduced materially by the use of pasture and forage crops, but it is desirable to feed grain or other concentrated feed in addition. In some sections of the country where pastures are luxuriant, mature hogs are maintained in an apparently satisfactory condition on pasture alone. This practice should not be followed, however, in the case of young, growing pigs, because they will become thin in flesh and stunted if compelled to live on pasture alone.

Hog raisers differ widely regarding the quantity of grain that should be fed to hogs while on pasture. Some feeders give them all they will consume. Others feed a ration equal to about 2 to 3 per cent of the live weight of the hog. Still others will allow pigs to run on pasture and feed them a 1 per cent grain ration. There is no fixed rule governing the supplemental grain ration which should be fed in combination with forage. The amount of grain fed depends upon the kind of pasture used, the price of grain, and the market.

Pasture forage has a variable composition. Alfalfa, clover, vetch, and peas furnish feed much richer in protein than most other crops. Where hogs are feeding on leguminous pasture they require less concentrated feed than when grazing upon nonleguminous pasture such as timothy, orchard grass, Bermuda, or bluegrass. In the early stages of growth the cereals may be classed as nitrogenous forages. A farmer may have more hogs than his pasture will accommodate. When this is the case, the pasture will last longer if a full grain ration is fed. The more grain a hog consumes, the less forage he will eat.

When grain is high, it is rather expensive to feed a supplemental grain ration. At such times there is a great temptation to place the hogs upon pasture alone. This practice will hardly ever pay, for it generally takes more grain and more time to finish off the hogs than if they had been fed a liberal ration while on pasture.

The amount of grain used will also depend upon the length of time the feeder has in which to fit the hogs for market. Hogs that are marketed from ten to twelve months old are usually maintained on pasture alone during the grazing season. If any grain is given at all it is very light. In this way the greater percentage of growth is made from the cheaply grown forage. Where rapid finishing is desired the liberal use of grain is important.

WARM WEATHER AND HORSES

Sunstroke Caused by Sun's Rays Falling Directly on Skull—Heat Exhaustion Similar.

(By PROF. O'TOOLE, North Dakota Experiment Station.)

Sunstroke is caused by the direct rays of the sun falling upon the skull. A horse so affected may die suddenly as though stricken with apoplexy or he may have a gradual paralysis of respiration. The symptoms which usually present themselves are restlessness, pawing, spasms and a marked redness of the mucous membranes lining the cavities of the head. The temperature in sunstroke may not rise above normal during the whole course of the disease.

Another condition very similar to sunstroke is that known as heat stroke or heat exhaustion. This is brought about by overexertion and insufficient heat elimination. The direct rays of the sun are not responsible for this affection, which very often occurs to an animal on a cloudy, sultry day. Some of the more prominent symptoms of heat stroke are weariness, profuse sweating, difficult breathing, an extremely high temperature, and a rapid pulse, which gradually grows weaker and upon the approach of death muscular tremors will be noted. The treatment for sunstroke and heatstroke are the same. Remove the animal to a cool, quiet, well-ventilated place, and permit a stream of cold water to flow over the horse and if possible apply ice packs to the head. If ice is plentiful apply it all over the body.

TO DESTROY INJURIOUS MICE

Enemies Have Been Killed Off and Little Rodents Have Increased Quite Rapidly.

How to destroy injurious mice is a difficult question. The owl and the hawk are the natural enemies of mice, as is the cat, and to some extent the dog, the weasel, the mink, the otter, and the beaver perhaps, but these suspected enemies of the mice have been killed off. There are few of them remaining, thus mice have increased rapidly and it seems necessary to employ strychnine, which may be mixed dry or otherwise with crushed grain or whole grain, wheat or oats. How to place this deadly poison within reach of mice without destroying other useful creatures is a question difficult to decide.

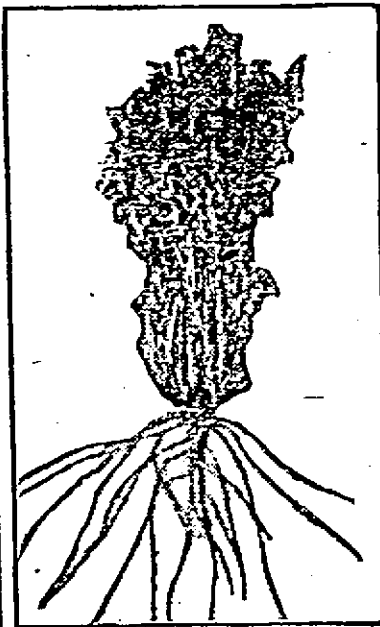

SELLING DIRECT FROM FIELD

Farmers Favor That Plan With Cabbages, Letting Dealers Stand Risk of Storage.

Most farmers prefer to sell their cabbage direct from the field, preferring that the dealers stand the risk of storage; this is probably the better plan. Where it is desired to store cabbage for home use, or even for sale later, one of the many plans in use is that of trenching. A shallow trench is dug and the cabbage laid in it head down; and then covered with soil, straw, litter, and manure are placed over this to prevent deep freezing. Storing in a warm, damp cellar ruins the flavor of cabbage.

Use Seed Which Is Pure and of Good Vitality—Thick Stand Will Keep Out Weeds.

The amount of seed to sow per acre is variously estimated at from 8 to 20 pounds. It is well to have a rather thick stand the first year, as some of the plants are practically certain to die, and with a thin stand the stems are coarser and not so palatable, but 10 to 12 pounds of seed per acre is enough to sow.

A small amount of seed which is pure and of good vitality is better than a larger quantity of seed of lower grade.

One advantage of a thick stand is to prevent the weeds getting a foothold. In parts of Kansas, four plants per square foot is considered the best ratio; in Ohio, one every four inches is more common.

The seed may be drilled or sown broadcast and disked or harrowed in.

In broadcasting, many people favor sowing one-half the seed in one direction and the remainder at right angles to the first sowing. This is believed to give a more even distribution.

Disking before plowing helps make a firm seed bed.

Sometimes it is possible to get a stand by sowing a few pounds of alfalfa seed with red clover. Then plow up the clover and seed to alfalfa.

The soil will contain enough bacteria to make a good catch fairly certain.

FEEDING SILAGE TO CALVES

In Absence of Other Nutritious Feeds It May Serve as Substitute—Avoid Coarse Parts.

Value of corn silage for young calves is an unsettled question. In the absence of other and more nutritious feeds, it may serve as a good substitute. It should never be fed extensively, and care should be exercised to prevent the feeding of coarse parts.

MR. WHITMAN'S PROPOSAL

By ANNETTE FOWLER.

James Whitman opened and shut the top drawer of his mahogany desk and rattled busily among the pens and paraphernalia on top.

"Miss Hemphill!" The curt staccato of his voice was if anything a little sharper than usual.

"Yes, Mr. Whitman," Margaret stopped typing instantly and instinctively reached for her pencil.

"One more letter before I leave, please."

"Yes, Mr. Whitman." She came over and sat down in the chair beside his desk, her notebook ready for dictation.

Mr. Whitman opened the drawer again, looked intently within and shut it. He may have been searching for inspiration. Whether he found it or not, he cleared his throat and began: "My dear Miss Blank."

Margaret waited, for Mr. Whitman had stopped.

"I suppose it's a little unusual to have a letter of this kind typewritten," he explained, "but the lady is a very sensible person and matter of fact enough to see no reason why a proposal of marriage should be any different from any other business proposition."

"Do you think marriage is a business proposition?" she asked.

"Yes, certainly it is. What else is it but for two contracting parties to enter into a partnership where each puts in capital of some sort to help the firm along?"

"Since you put it that way it is," said Margaret. Then she added, "But it isn't exactly my idea of matrimony."

He eyed her sharply. "Isn't it?" "Shall I go on with the dictation?" was her only comment.

"Yes, please. My dear Miss Blank—I have been very closely associated with you now for several years and in that time I have assured myself that you are possessed of all the admirable characteristics that make an ideal wife. On the other hand, I flatter myself that the things I have to offer the woman who consents to be my life companion are not to be despised, and I hope you will look favorably on my suit, for I entertain a deep affection for you, Miss Blank, and hereby humbly offer you my heart and hand, which I sincerely hope you will accept. I am yours most cordially, "JAMES WHITMAN."

A pale pink flush had mounted Margaret's cheeks and there was a peculiar twitching of the mouth that she could not control. Mr. Whitman's keen eye caught her perturbation and he rejoiced inwardly at the result of his missive upon his usually unemotional stenographer.

"Copy it off for me right away, then, please, and I'll mail it on my way home." And her employer, looking out of the window and seeing his car at the curb, retired to wash off some of the office grime before leaving.

The door of the outer office burst open and a young man rushed in.

"Hello, Margie, where's the boss?"

"She'll be back in a minute, Bob. I've something rich to tell you. Mercy! You mustn't do that here." For Bob had leaped over, tilted back her head and kissed her boldly on the lips.

"Here and anywhere, dear old girl! Say, Marg, I've come to see about a raise. The old man's got to hand it over, that's all. I've just about come to the conclusion that I'm not going to wait any longer."

"Sh!" admonished Margaret again as a footstep sounded outside.

"Mr. Whitman," began Bob, nervously, his courage suddenly oozing at the sight of the heavy-set face of his employer, "I came to see if you couldn't give me a little more money. You see, I've been here five years and I think my services are worth more now than they were at first, don't you?"

"No, I don't. Office clerks are as thick as crab apples. I can get one for half your salary tomorrow morning."

This was a facer. Bob tried a new tack. "But I was thinking of getting married, Mr. Whitman. Don't you think a married man is steadier and worth more to you than a single one? I'd certainly like to have a boost, Mr. Whitman! I've got a dandy nice girl!"

The trick worked. The other, thinking of his own venture upon the same sea, and not in the least doubtful as to the outcome, cast a benevolent eye on the young man and looked over at his stenographer's bent head. "Why, maybe you're right, Mr. Service. A married man is worth more. All right—you're getting eighty, we'll make it a hundred. How's that?"

"Bully for you!" beamed Bob. "Thank you very much, indeed, Mr. Whitman. Won't you congratulate me? Miss Hemphill has consented to be my wife and, thanks to you, we can get married now without further delay."

Margaret turned around smiling, but Mr. Whitman's expression caused her to spring up suddenly in alarm. "Are you sick?" she asked. "Bob, some water, quick!"

But Mr. Whitman waved them weakly aside as the color slowly returned to his face.

"I congratulate you both," he said. "Miss Hemphill don't bother about that letter now. I've decided not to send it."
